

Morgan Reiss, Resident Coordinator, Experiential Learning Projects

Morgan Reiss has been working for CIEE since 2000, when she first started working for the U.S. office as the Program Advisor for the CIEE Study Abroad Programs in Spain. A year later, she traded New York for Seville and came to work as the Program Assistant for the Liberal Arts and Advanced Liberal Arts Programs. Seven years -and almost as many apartments- later, she continues to work for CIEE Seville as the Experiential Learning Coordinator which allows her to combine her interests in working with students and the local community and examining issues relating to human rights. Morgan majored in Spanish and Latin American Studies at Tulane University, received her EFL teaching certification from International House Barcelona and received a Masters in Human Rights Law from the University of Essex in England. A compulsive traveller, Morgan spends every free moment of her life searching for cheap flights so she can visit her friends and family around the world.
