

Óscar Ceballos,

Resident Director, Communication, New Media, and Journalism

Coordinator of Publications

Óscar Ceballos was born in Seville in 1966. He's taught Spanish as a Second Language, amongst several other subjects, at the CIEE Study Center in Seville since 1995. He's currently the Resident Director of the Communication, New Media and Journalism program that will start running in the Fall Semester of 2011. He graduated from the University of Seville in 1989 with a Bachelor's Degree in Art. Subsequently he pursued an artistic career in painting that lasted for over 12 years and which included individual exhibitions in Spain and the UK primarily. Between 1989 and 1994 he lived and worked in London, UK, where he was a stage designer, a literary translator, a small entrepreneur, and a handyman, as well as an artist. He has an MA from the University of Seville in Philosophy and Aesthetics (2005) and a postgraduate diploma in Design and Editorial Projects at the Pompeu Fabra University of Barcelona (2007). He's married to Morgan Reiss, a US citizen, and is the proud father of a three year-old boy, Eliot, and of a two month-old daughter, Tula.