Traditionally, study abroad has meant studying in one location for a full semester or year. CIEE builds on that tradition in ways unlike any other provider. Our industry-first Open Campus academic programming option – available at CIEE Global Institutes – offers a whole new level of flexibility, mobility, and affordability.

At our Global Institute campuses in Berlin, London, Paris, and Rome, students have the power to personalize their international experience. You can meet your degree requirements and match your interests, timeframe, and budget. Best of all, you take it all on the road. Open Campus programs are designed to let you continue your studies seamlessly as you live and learn at up to three CIEE Global Institute locations. In this way, lessons in business or health sciences, for example, are infused with different comparative perspectives and solutions found across locations – and cultures.

Your journey starts at a CIEE Global Institute.
CIEE’s Open Campus block model program is unique among study abroad programs. Designed for maximum flexibility and academic rigor, it is the only program that gives you, the student, control over the design of your study abroad experience. You choose your academic track, program length, type of projects, and location — including the option to travel and study at up to three of our Global Institutes.

Open Campus programs are designed to fit together seamlessly across locations. This allows you to move forward academically while easily traveling among our Global Institute locations in Berlin, London, Paris, and Rome.

Let's say social media is your thing. Maybe you’re wondering what platforms are preferred by local news organizations in Rome. How does that answer differ from those used in London? And how do preferences in those cities compare to those found in Berlin? With CIEE, you design a program — steeped in intercultural and comparative learning — that puts you on the ground at each location. There, you can not only research answers to your questions, but also speak with people and observe environments affected by preferences in each community.

Enrolling in courses through the Open Campus block model program promotes maximum cultural immersion, allowing you to engage in two courses in blocks of 6, 12, or 18 weeks in up to three CIEE Global Institute locations.

The choice is yours. Pick an option that fits your budget, timeframe, and preferred locations.

Additional features include:
- Global Scholars: Design a program that takes you to three Global Institutes in one semester.
- Global Scholars Online: Choose to study at more than one Global Institute and gain access to new insights and perspectives through CIEE’s Global Scholars Online learning platform. This is an innovative online component that features special events and projects that ensure learning through comparative experience and reflection.

FOUR STEPS TO AN EXPERIENCE ALL YOUR OWN

1. CHOOSE YOUR ACADEMIC TRACK
   Pick from any one of our five rigorous areas of study or build your own multidisciplinary track.

2. CHOOSE YOUR PROGRAM LENGTH
   Engage in two courses in blocks of 6, 12, or 18 weeks.

3. CHOOSE YOUR PROJECT TYPE
   Select how you’ll supplement lessons learned in coursework and on excursions, through an internship, directed research or service learning.

4. CHOOSE YOUR DESTINATION CITIES
   Immerse yourself in a single location, or go all out and study in up to three cities at any of our Global Institutes in Berlin, London, Paris, and Rome.

CIEE Global Scholars are students who make the most of studying abroad by living and learning in three cities in one semester.

HOW DOES IT WORK?
- Choose your destination cities
- Study in three cities over 18 weeks
- Deepen your experience with the Global Scholars Online learning platform
- Share your experience across social media platforms
CIEE's Global Institute – Berlin is your staging area for an energetic venture into Berlin's creative economy. Housed in a newly remodeled factory building in the Kreuzberg district, the campus is embedded in a neighborhood known for its thriving multiculturalism and artsy vibe. You'll enjoy endless food and entertainment options, street festivals, and easy access to all of Berlin.

Highlights include:

• Studying in two of CIEE's premier programs, Global Architecture and Design, and Global Sustainability and Environment. Each program draws on leading resources in Europe to blend centuries-old infrastructure and tradition into cutting-edge – and smart – design.

• Experiencing a robust entrepreneurial environment that supports a range of businesses and interests, from high-tech start-ups to graffiti artists to social media and film communities.

• Living in a residence hall featuring a café and courtyard, suites, full kitchens, laundry facilities, and study and common areas.

• Practice language skills in a German language-only area of the residence hall.

• Learning in classrooms with state-of-the-art technology and equipment.

• Access to a subway station and bike paths just steps away.

• Student Life staff with information on local events and volunteer opportunities.

At the crossroads of Europe, in a city swirling with innovation and change, CIEE's Global Institute – Berlin and Open Campus program reinvent the study abroad experience, giving you control to engage and experience Berlin.
