At CIEE, study abroad is so much more than coursework in a new country. It's about taking students out of their daily routine and introducing sights, sounds, smells, and flavors that step away their notion of separateness and allow a sense of mutuality to emerge. That's why our programs are packed with co-curricular activities and excursions and why we believe intercultural understanding has the power to change the world.
Students immerse themselves in the ancient wonder and natural beauty of Cusco to explore Peruvian Studies. Students from many academic areas can experience this unique program, which combines co-curricular activities with classroom learning. Courses are taught by academics and experts from a range of local universities such as Universidad Andina del Cusco, Universidad Nacional de San Antonio Abad del Cusco, and Instituto Bartolomé de las Casas, among others.

Nothing should prevent your students from studying abroad.

Dear Educators,

International education experiences help students develop intercultural understanding and a global perspective. Despite these life-long benefits, only 10% of U.S. college students study abroad.* Why?

Barriers of cost, curriculum, and culture often stand in the way.

We at CIEE are committed to clearing a path so that all students, regardless of socio-economic, academic, racial, or ethnic background, have access to international education.

CIEE offers more than $8 million a year in scholarships and grants, including guaranteed travel grants to all Pell-eligible students, and awards for Gilman applicants, students from Minority Serving Institutions, and more.

Plus, CIEE has a diverse portfolio of short-term and traditional semester study abroad options in many academic disciplines. Besides first-in-class language programs, we have programs focused on business, design, journalism, and scores of other subjects. CIEE’s wide range of options means that nearly all students can find a way to study abroad during their time in college regardless of the requirements of their major or constraints of their institution's academic calendar.

In response to demand, we’ve added dozens of new English-taught STEM courses to our Open Campus Block programming, many including a lab component. These courses are fundamental-level, so STEM students can study abroad earlier in their academic career and non-STEM majors can complete a science or math requirement abroad. They are taught in 6-week blocks across our Global Institute Network, which now includes Shanghai and Sydney.

We will keep working on new ways to open the door to international education for every student, and I hope you’ll join us in our efforts to convey to all students that study abroad is for them, not just for the 10% who currently are able to take advantage of the opportunity.

James P. Pellow, Ed.D.
President and CEO, CIEE, Inc.

HEALTH, SAFETY, AND SECURITY

Student health and safety is our top priority. Each of our 60+ sites is regularly assessed using international risk management standards to make certain our programs can be safely and successfully run. In addition, our professional onsite staff are thoroughly immersed in the community and trained to support the wellbeing of every study abroad student.

VIGILANT

Our full-time health, safety, and security team receives continuous updates from multiple emergency alerting systems and the U.S. State Department to keep abreast of political, environmental, and cultural situations around the world.

PREPARED

CIEE international staff undergo extensive training to mitigate risk to students’ physical and mental wellbeing. In addition, each CIEE site has a tested Emergency Action and Response Plan tailored to local realities.

ORGANIZED

Our emergency notification system simultaneously broadcasts messages via text message, phone, and email so students can be quickly accounted for and informed in the event of an incident.

INSURED

Every student is automatically enrolled in our comprehensive iNext insurance plan, which provides supplemental health and travel coverage.
Since 1947, CIEE has supported the safety of over 2,000,000 students during their study abroad experience.

Student Safety is a Collaborative Process

Our best-in-class health, safety, and security protocols encourage students to participate in a predeparture orientation and required an onsite orientation to familiarize themselves with any local, regional, or national situations. CIEE recommends and encourages students to facilitate their commitment to staying safe by:

- Reviewing State Department information for any country they intend to travel to while abroad.

- Registering for the State Department’s Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP) to ensure receipt of Department of State updates.

- Visiting the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and World Health Organization websites for information about health-related risks and prevention protocols associated with countries students may visit.

- Adhering to CIEE Health, Safety, and Security guidelines and onsite staff guidance regarding local safety measures.

[cieee.org/safety]

At CIEE, study abroad is so much more than coursework in a new country. It’s about taking students out of their daily routine and introducing sights, sounds, smells, and flavors that chip away their illusion of separateness and allow a sense of mutuality to emerge. That’s why our programs are packed with co-curricular activities and excursions and why we believe intercultural understanding has the power to change the world.
